Course Description
This course presents the various human resource management (HRM) activities such as recruitment, testing, selection, performance management, labor relations, volunteer management, compensation and training, for more effective nonprofit management. Experiential exercises will be used to simulate personnel/HRM tasks and issues that managers face in nonprofit organizations, such as conflict and leadership.

Course Format & Expectations
This class uses a combination of lecture, discussion, individual assignments, and team-based projects. Students are expected to participate actively and to bring a sincere curiosity to the material.

Guiding Assumption
This course operates under the assumption that every student will one day have the opportunity to exercise leadership within the context of nonprofit organizations. This may include functioning as a senior leader, board member, core volunteer, or major donor. It may also, for those students who pursue careers in the government or for-profit sectors, include roles of policy-making or corporate social responsibility.

Class material, announcements, and resources will be available online via Canvas. All students are expected to check Canvas regularly: http://lss.at.ufl.edu

Online Course Evaluation Process

Student assessment of instruction is an important part of efforts to improve teaching and learning. At the end of the semester, students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course using a standard set of university and college criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Evaluations are typically open for students to complete during the last two or three weeks of the semester; students will be notified of the specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results.

Academic Honesty

As a student at the University of Florida, you have committed yourself to uphold the Honor Code, which includes the following pledge: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.” You are expected to exhibit behavior consistent with this commitment to the UF academic community, and on all work submitted for credit at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

It is assumed that you will complete all work independently in each course unless the instructor provides explicit permission for you to collaborate on course tasks (e.g. assignments, papers, quizzes, exams). Furthermore, as part of your obligation to uphold the Honor Code, you should report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. It is your individual responsibility to know and comply with all university policies and procedures regarding academic integrity and the Student Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code at the University of Florida will not be tolerated. Violations will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for consideration of disciplinary action. For more information regarding the Student Honor Code, please see: http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code.

Software Use

All faculty, staff and students of the university are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against university policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate.

Student Resources

I encourage students to be proactive in seeking resources that will help them succeed and, also, to let me know how I can best support them in the classroom.
