Course Description

This course explores the evolution of modern communities and concepts of community and uses sociological theories to explain community-level phenomena. As community practitioners, students will need to understand the populations they work with and use community theories to design robust and effective community-based programs. We will look specifically at the interaction between children, families, and the communities they live in and analyze implications for community practice.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course, you will be able to:

1. Identify and understand the roles and functions of communities in the larger social system.
2. Use social theory to understand and analyze issues facing contemporary communities.
3. Analyze the interaction between children, families, and the communities they live in and how characteristics of communities' impact social processes.
4. Use social theory to evaluate the potential impacts of different kinds of programs designed to address the problems that face contemporary communities.

Required Materials

This class requires you listen to podcasts, read blog posts, watch videos, and read journal articles or book chapters before attending class. Book chapters are available on Canvas, but students are responsible for locating all other class prep materials themselves. The course calendar provides a full APA reference for each class prep assignment. All journal articles can be accessed via the UF Library website for free if accessed using campus WIFI or the UF VPN. Students should never need to pay for access to class prep materials. Links are provided for blogs and/or podcasts, however, sometimes links change and those provided may be inactive at times; students are still responsible for locating and completing class prep materials using the APA reference if a link is broken. All podcasts can be accessed through any podcast app or through a web browser. In some cases, a full transcript is available if accessed Online (this is noted for you on the course calendar); students with disabilities needing a written transcript to successfully complete the class prep assignment should contact the instructor immediately for an alternate class prep assignment if a transcript is not available.

Disclaimer: On some occasions, the content of the class prep material may be provocative or biased in some way. This content was intentionally selected to facilitate discussion and provoke critical thinking; this does not mean that I support the ideas expressed or am advocating for a particular set of beliefs and values.

Attendance & Make-up Work

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies. Click here to read the university attendance policies:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/attendance-policies/>.

Policy Regarding Late Work

All assignments are to be submitted via Canvas by the date and time indicated on the course calendar and on Canvas. Late work is accepted at the discretion of the course instructor and will only be approved in cases consistent with the university policies found above.

APA Formatting Guidelines

Use the APA Style Guide, 7th Edition to complete all assignments in this course. Use proper APA formatting for all components of an assignment including in-text citations, tables and figures, appendices, section headings, title, abstract and references. The FYCS Department has chosen to use the Professional title page guidelines, not the student title page format. Guidelines for formatting can be found in:

Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7 ed.). (2019). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Note: There are many citation generators and APA guides available online. While these can be good resources, they often produce citations that are incomplete or incorrectly formatted. If you use a citation generator for your work, it would be wise to review the references to ensure they are formatted correctly before submitting your assignment.

The only source that ensures 100% compliance with APA is the APA Style Guide itself.

Troubleshooting Technical Issues

Students should contact the UF Help Desk at 352-392-HELP/4357 or at helpdesk@ufl.edu with all technical issues. Some issues may be resolved using resources on the Help Desk website: helpdesk.ufl.edu. Do not contact the instructor or TA to help you solve a technical issue. If a technical issue is impeding your ability to submit an assignment on time, send an email to the instructor explaining the situation and provide your UFIT ticket number (assigned to you by the Help Desk). Accommodations will not be made for technical issues unless a UFIT ticket number is provided.

FYCS Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Statement³

The UF/IFAS Department of Family, Youth and Community Sciences is committed to engaging positively in a global and diverse society through its teaching, extension, and research efforts. That commitment is demonstrated by creating an inclusive educational environment that fosters belonging as we mentor students, perform relevant scholarship, and conduct outreach for families, youth, and communities that is sensitive and responsive to the needs of diverse audiences. Intentional effort is made to providing access and equity to underrepresented, underserved, marginalized, and minoritized people in Florida and beyond.

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Policy Regarding Testing Accommodations

- Any student who requires testing accommodations must follow university procedure for securing the accommodations. Please see <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/students> for how to access resources and setting up accommodations.
- Students who require testing accommodations should follow DRC policy for making an appointment to take the test(s) at the DRC. Do not assume that I can provide additional assistance for testing needs. If you fail to follow through on making arrangements with the DRC to take a test, you will take the test with the rest of the class and will be given the same amount of time to take the test as the rest of the class.

Policy Regarding Privacy in Online Class Sessions

Any Online class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared.

In-Class Recording Policy

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

Online Course Evaluations

~Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email, they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Academic Honesty

As a student at the University of Florida, you have committed yourself to uphold the Honor Code, which includes the following pledge: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.” You are expected to exhibit behavior consistent with this commitment to the UF academic community. On all work submitted for credit at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.”

It is assumed that you will complete all work independently in each course unless the instructor provides explicit permission for you to collaborate on course tasks (e.g., assignments, papers, quizzes, exams). Furthermore, as part of your obligation to uphold the Honor Code, you should report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. It is your individual responsibility to know and comply with all university policies and procedures regarding academic integrity and the Student Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code at the University of Florida will not be tolerated. Violations will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for consideration of disciplinary action. For more information regarding the student honor code, please see:

<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/>

We will do quite a bit of group work in class and I encourage you to work and study with colleagues outside of class. However, for the reflection questions at the end of each module and for some assignments, you are on your own.
